*“To laugh often and much;
To win the respect of intelligent people
and the affection of children;
to earn the appreciation of honest critics and endure
the betrayal of false friends;
to appreciate beauty,
to find the best in others;
to leave the world a little better;
whether by a healthy child,
a garden patch or a redeemed social condition;
to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived.
This is the meaning of success.”*

– Ralph Waldo Emerson

Greetings Stockton Graduates!

On behalf of the entire Stockton community, I offer my sincere congratulations on your completion of such a significant milestone -- one that you have worked so very hard to achieve, and one that should be recognized and celebrated. I'm so happy we can do this in person today!

This has been an extraordinary time for our University. I want to thank everyone in the Stockton family — students, parents and family members, faculty and staff, alumni, donors, and community partners – for your amazing response to this unprecedented challenge.

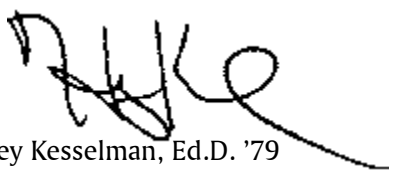

Commencement is a transition — from student to graduate — a rite of passage that ushers you into the next phase of your life. With confidence and your University degree, you are well-equipped to meet the challenges and opportunities of our ever-changing global society.

Whatever your desired path, whether continuing the pursuit of higher education or moving into a professional experience, the investment in your Stockton education has prepared you to meet these adventures with vigor. Your resiliency can and will determine your ability to weather any storm. While no one can tell what tomorrow will bring, I believe that, along with its trials and uncertainties, tomorrow also brings new possibilities ripe for the taking.

At Stockton, we strive to create a collegiate experience filled with opportunities for students to gain knowledge across disciplines, develop long-standing relationships, and cultivate civic engagement. We trust you have taken full advantage of these experiences and embody the spirit of Osprey pride.

As the newest ambassadors of our University, we welcome you as one of Stockton's outstanding alumni, now more than 60,000 strong. We encourage you to remain involved and engaged with Stockton and keep us posted of your ongoing achievements. I am confident you will represent your alma mater with the highest of integrity wherever you go.

It is with great enthusiasm that I congratulate you once again on this momentous occasion. We are extremely proud of you and wish you much success with your future endeavors!

Harvey Kesselman, Ed.D. '79
President

Dear Graduates,

On behalf of the faculty at Stockton University, congratulations to you for accomplishing a major milestone today! While it marks a celebratory end to one journey, it also ushers you into a new journey with far greater challenges and with many opportunities lying ahead of you.

As you step out of the pines and into the world, we are extremely confident in seeing you as an engaged and effective citizen who has deeply imbibed the value of critical thinking, appreciated the importance of global perspectives and is committed to better community building in a multi-cultural, interdependent world. In Gandhian teachings, “Be the change that you wish to see in the world.”

At Stockton, we find great joy in developing lifelong bonds with our students and cherish our friendships. But along with the faculty and staff, your friends and family have invariably played a very important role in your journey. Today is also a day to celebrate everyone who supported your commitment and dedication to education and your aspirations toward a brighter future ahead.

We have witnessed your hard work for this day and are extremely proud to share many joyous moments in classrooms, lecture halls, class discussions, and in generating newer perspectives. Yet, tomorrow’s world will be very different than today’s, and we will continue to believe in your abilities to adapt and play your part in making the world a better place. In the words of Angela Davis, we remind you that “You have to act as if it were possible to radically transform the world. And you have to do it all the time.”

We wish you luck and congratulations once again.

Associate Professor of Criminal Justice and President of the Faculty Senate

STOCKTON AT 50 – AND BEYOND

In the fall of 1971, 1,000 students and 60 faculty members arrived at a new state institution of higher education in southern New Jersey, Stockton State College. New buildings on the wooded main campus would not be complete until January, so the first students and faculty held classes and lived together in the soon-to-be-condemned Mayflower Hotel on the then-struggling Atlantic City Boardwalk.

It was not a traditional opening, but Stockton was not intended to be a traditional college. Founded on the principles of a liberal arts education and civic and community engagement, this new college promised new opportunity in an area of the state that previously had no higher education options and high rates of poverty and unemployment.

In 2021-22 Stockton is celebrating its 50th anniversary. The University has grown tenfold, but its core values remain the same - a commitment to our students and to the diverse communities in which they live.

Stockton's campus today is a visible manifestation of its mission. More than a third of undergraduates identify as students of color. Flags flying outside the Arts and Sciences building represent the Latinx, Pan-African and LGBTQ communities. The Military and Veterans Success Center and Women's, Gender and Sexuality Center provide a supportive environment to study and meet. A new Multicultural Center will encourage all students to share and celebrate their heritage. A new "Race and Racial Education attribute" requirement ensures that all students learn about the impact of racism on society.

Once they arrive at Stockton, students are supported academically, socially and emotionally. The University faculty and staff have remained flexible to meet those challenges, developing programs that support students while challenging them to dream and grow. View our "50th in Flight" anniversary mural in the Campus Center and you will see nearly 1,000 photos that tell the story of Stockton's first 50 years – almost all of them featuring students.

When the Atlantic City campus opened in Atlantic City in fall 2018, it was not just a return to our roots; it was a commitment to the original promise of serving the entire community. As an anchor institution, Stockton is not just educating the next generation of community leaders but is helping lead the way to a more diverse economy that can supplement the gaming, hospitality, and tourism focus of the Jersey shore with new industries focused on innovation, climate change, and environmental sustainability.

STOCKTON AT 50 – AND BEYOND

The COVID-19 pandemic created new challenges, but also opportunities to review and renew how we serve our students, faculty and staff. Stockton's mission, last revised in 2017, reflects our original mission and states in part that we strive: "to develop engaged and effective citizens with a commitment to lifelong learning and the capacity to adapt to change in a multi-cultural, interdependent world."

Stockton has not just adapted but is innovating, with proposals for a Coastal Resiliency Center and academic programs that support new industries from cannabis to sustainability. The University may be celebrating its first half-century, but we are not just looking back. We are actively preparing our students and community to be the leaders of the next 50 years and beyond.

Brian K. Bridges, Ph.D.,

Dr. Bridges currently serves as Secretary of Higher Education for the state of New Jersey, a role he began on November 16, 2020 as part of Governor Phil Murphy's administration.

As Secretary, Dr. Bridges is responsible for policy development and coordination of higher education activities for the state, including supporting institutions amid the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic. He also coordinates initiatives to improve college affordability in New Jersey through the State Plan for Higher Education and enhance postsecondary opportunities while promoting equity and access for all through programs such as the state's Community College Opportunity Grant (CCOG).

Dr. Bridges previously served as Vice President of Research and Member Engagement at the United Negro College Fund (UNCF) in Washington, DC where he led UNCF's Frederick D. Patterson Research Institute (FDPRI) and the Institute for Capacity Building (ICB). He served as the organization's chief research officer, principal editor, and contributor to FDPRI's publications, as well as the manager of internal and external projects involving capacity building, evaluation, and assessment. Dr. Bridges also led the UNCF Career Pathways Initiative, a project funded by the Lilly Endowment, to improve job placement outcomes at Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs) and Predominantly Black Institutions (PBIs).

Prior to joining UNCF, Dr. Bridges served in various leadership roles both on- and off-campus, including Vice Provost for Diversity, Access, and Equity at Ohio University; Associate Director of the Center for Advancement of Racial and Ethnic Equity at the American Council on Education; and Associate Director at the National Survey of Student Engagement (NSSE). While at NSSE, he managed a million-dollar subcontract for the Building Engagement and Attainment of Minority Students project, a national initiative funded by Lumina Foundation to assist minority-serving institutions in using their NSSE results for institutional improvement. He is a former Assistant Professor of Higher Education Administration at George Washington University. Throughout his career, Dr. Bridges has served as a media resource and provided expert perspective and analysis on numerous panels and advisory committees on issues related to student engagement, HBCUs, learning environments at minority-serving institutions, and success factors for African American college students at predominantly white institutions.

Dr. Bridges earned his Doctorate in Higher Education Administration from Indiana University–Bloomington, a Master of Public Administration degree from the University of North Carolina–Charlotte, and a Bachelor's of Arts in English Language and Literature from Francis Marion University. Dr. Bridges was born in Brooklyn, NY and reared in Beaufort, SC.

Academic Honors

Academic Honors listed for Spring 2022 undergraduate candidates' cumulative grade point averages, are calculated through Fall 2021, and indicate their potential eligibility for honors. After final averages for the Spring 2022 candidates are calculated, honors will be noted on the student's record. The student who meets the following eligibility requirements upon completion of all degree requirements will be awarded the degree cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude. At least 64 credits must have been completed satisfactorily at Stockton prior to graduation for a student's academic record to qualify for an honors designation. All courses attempted at Stockton will be included in the following calculations, except courses with P/NC or W (or equivalent) grades. Students with a cumulative GPA of 3.950-4.000 will be designated summa cum laude; students with a cumulative GPA of 3.850-3.949 will be designated magna cum laude; students with a cumulative GPA of 3.750-3.849 will be designated cum laude. The calculation of GPA will be taken to three decimal places.

Stockton University

Stockton University was founded in 1969 as Richard Stockton State College, a public four-year college within the New Jersey system of higher education. A residential institution with students drawn from across the state, Stockton is located at the edge of the New Jersey Pinelands, 12 miles northwest of Atlantic City and 50 miles southeast of Philadelphia. The largest campus in New Jersey, Stockton's award-winning buildings are set within 2,000+ acres of forest, streams, and lakes.

The University first offered instruction in 1971 and currently offers distinctive baccalaureate programs in liberal arts, professional studies, and general education as well as master's and doctoral degree programs designed to stimulate and challenge students intellectually. Stockton is strongly committed to preparing graduates for careers and advanced education, a commitment that encompasses helping students acquire interest in lifelong learning and in contributing to society.

Stockton's faculty members have gained a national reputation for their teaching, accessibility, and scholarship. In addition, faculty members actively mentor students, involving them in original research, hands-on learning, and community engagement. Through academic and co-curricular programming, faculty members guide undergraduate and graduate students to develop their independent and critical thinking skills both inside and outside the classroom.

Stockton University Foundation

The Stockton University Foundation, a non-profit organization founded to support innovative University programs, provides the means for individuals, organizations, and corporations to make gifts, grants, and bequests to the University. This private support enables the University to finance programs not typically funded through State appropriations.

Gifts donated to the Foundation support student scholarships, faculty and student research fellowships, improvements to equipment and facilities, and enrichment of student services and cultural programs. These offerings enhance the University's excellent record recruiting dedicated faculty, retaining students, and engaging friends.

The Chair of the Foundation's Board of Directors is Donna Buzby. For further information on the Stockton University Foundation, contact Daniel Nugent, Chief Development Officer and Executive Director of the Stockton University Foundation, at Daniel.Nugent@stockton.edu

Academic Honors

As part of a comprehensive educational effort to promote and recognize outstanding academic achievement, Stockton University grants baccalaureate degrees with the designations cum laude, magna cum laude, summa cum laude to qualified graduating students. Those graduates who have achieved academic honors wear a cord around the neck: a gold cord designates summa cum laude, a silver cord designates magna cum laude, and a white cord designates cum laude.

Honors

Students awarded the degree cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude achieve the following eligibility requirements in addition to those needed for a degree. All courses attempted at Stockton are included in the calculations for academic honors, except courses taken as Pass/No Credit. Students must satisfactorily complete at least 64 credits at Stockton prior to graduation in order to qualify for honor's designation.

Students graduate under the policies in effect at the time of their graduation rather than at the time of their initial matriculation. Currently, to receive summa cum laude designation, students must achieve a cumulative grade point average of 3.950-4.000; to receive magna cum laude designation, students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.850-3.949; and to receive cum laude designation, students must achieve a cumulative GPA of 3.750-3.849. The calculation of GPA is taken to three decimal places.

Academic Regalia

Academic garb dates back to medieval times, when heavy gowns, hoods, and caps were worn by students to protect them against the cold, dank, and drafty corridors of their universities. In the Middle Ages, Europeans wore clothing of distinctive colors to indicate their status or profession. It was only natural, therefore, that when monks and students began to don distinctive costume for bachelor's (apprentices), master's (teachers), and doctor's (teachers who completed postgraduate study) degrees, the most conspicuous distinctions appeared on the hood.

The academic gowns of the past have been replaced by gowns made of lighter fabric, as students no longer wear them to keep warm and since most commencement ceremonies today take place in the late spring and early summer. Typically, commencement gowns are black, although some institutions have adopted gowns in school colors.

The bachelor's gown, comparatively simple in design, usually has no adornment other than its characteristic long, pointed sleeves. The master's gown has oblong sleeves, which are open at the wrist. The doctor's gown differs from the bachelor's and master's gowns because it sports velvet panels down the front and around the neck and three velvet bands across round, open sleeves.

The bachelor's and master's caps are traditional mortarboard while some doctor's degree caps are a soft, large beret. The tassel, which is usually black for bachelor's and master's degrees, occasionally comes in a color representing the student's field of study and may be gold for doctors and presidents. Prior to conferral of a degree, the tassel falls to the right; upon conferral, students switch the tassel ceremoniously to the left.

The hood, as the most distinctive and symbolic piece of the academic costume, indicates the level of the degree, the field of study, and the institution conferring the degree. The length of the hood denotes the degree; bachelor's hoods are three feet, master's three and a half feet, and doctor's four feet long. There are also similar variations in the length of the velvet trimming. This trimming denotes the field of study for which the degree was awarded. The lining of the hood represents the color or colors of the institution conferring the degree. Some of the colors of the trimming are as follows:

Arts, Letters, Humanities, White	Occupational Therapy, Slate Blue
Accountancy, Business, Commerce, Drab	Optometry, Sea Foam Green
Agriculture, Maize	Oratory (Speech), Silver Gray
Dentistry, Lilac	Pharmacy, Olive Green
Economics, Copper	Philosophy, Dark Blue
Education, Light Blue	Physical Education, Sage Green
Engineering, Orange	Physical Therapy, Teal
Fine Arts, Brown	Podiatry-Chiroprody, Nile Green

Mace

The origins of the ceremonial mace can be traced to the Middle Ages when knights wielded maces as weapons. As knighthood became obsolete, the mace became symbolic of power. It is now a traditional symbol of authority in churches, government, and universities.

Ned Gerber, Port Republic woodcarver who served on Stockton's founding committee, carved the mace carried by the Faculty Grand Marshal at Stockton graduation ceremonies. The three-foot shaft of the Stockton mace is crafted from walnut and holly, woods indigenous to southern New Jersey. The walnut is from a century-old tree hewn by Tom Lang, a retired member of the Stockton staff. Pewter, the metal employed in Stockton's mace, was a popular and practical metal in New Jersey during colonial times.

Stockton's mace is crowned with the flame of knowledge and carved in holly to denote mission. At the foot is a carved acorn, which indicates growth. Below the flame of knowledge is a triad of Stockton's former logo, a symbol of two trees, denoting environmental concern. Linked edge-to-edge and inlaid with holly, this symbol represents the three populations comprising the University community: students, faculty, and staff. The Great Seal of New Jersey, cast in pewter, signifies Stockton's aegis and sponsorship. A fluted section of walnut below the seal suggests the academic curriculum and the self-discipline necessary for each student to achieve a degree. Below that is a pewter cylinder engraved with the names of the first three Presidents of Stockton University. Finally, an engraved pewter nameplate identifies "Richard Stockton State College founded 1969."

STOCKTON UNIVERSITY SEAL

LOGO:

The original official logo of Richard Stockton State College as approved by the first Board of Trustees. The ribbon highlights the year in which the College was established.

RAMPANT LION:

Adopted from the Richard Stockton family crest, this symbol represents courage and strength.

BOOK AND CANDLE:

This symbol indicates the enlightenment acquired through lifelong learning.

TREE:

This image refers to Stockton's location in the New Jersey Pinelands.

OSPREY:

Stockton's official mascot, native to the southern New Jersey region and saved from extinction through the efforts of Stockton faculty members, now names Stockton's renowned athletic teams.

COLOR USAGE:

In keeping with the motto "An Environment for Excellence," blue represents the sky. Gold (ink or foil) complements the blue, adds an element of elegance, and emphasizes the value of educational enlightenment.
