HEIGHTENED RISK ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Travel Alerts are issued to disseminate information about short-term conditions, either transnational or within a particular country, that pose significant risks to the security of U.S. citizens. Natural disasters, terrorist attacks, coups, anniversaries of terrorist events, election-related demonstrations or violence, and high-profile events such as international conferences or regional sports events are examples of conditions that might generate a Travel Alert.

Travel Warnings are issued when conditions in a particular country are so unsafe that U.S. citizens should consider not going at all. Generally, such conditions may be long term and protracted, such as civil war, unstable government, ongoing intense crime or violence, or frequent terrorist attacks.

Stockton University has informed me that there is currently a Travel Alert/Warning, issued through the U.S. Department of State, for the following destination that I have requested to travel to: _____

I have read the attached Travel Alert/Warning and I understand that Stockton University advises me to avoid or consider the risk in traveling to this country.

I also acknowledge that current conditions are making this country dangerous or unstable. I also acknowledge that the U.S. Government's ability to assist American citizens may be constrained due to the closure of an embassy or consulate or because of a drawdown to its staff. I have registered my travel to this destination with the local US Embassy or consulate through the U. S. department Smart Traveler Enrollment Program (STEP) at <http://step.state.gov/step/>
