Galloway, NJ – The Graduate Research Symposium, hosted by the School of Graduate and Continuing Studies at Stockton University, will bring together graduate students from the sciences and humanities to showcase their research in the Campus Center Event Room on Monday, Dec. 7, from 6-8 p.m.

Prospective students and their families, the public and members of the Stockton community are encouraged to attend this unique educational and networking event.

“Designing and conducting research can be a challenging and rewarding part of this academic journey and tonight signifies the culmination of one's empirical quest and capstone experience,” said Dr. Lewis Leitner, dean of the School of Graduate and Continuing Studies. Capstone courses involve in-depth, systematic research that enables students to investigate and solve real-world, instructional problems.
