This program makes a breathtaking voyage from a new work of gentle expressive lyricism by New Jersey composer Amanda Harberg, to the exquisite sensory content of Debussy, and then to the leaner, more etched Stravinsky. Their attributes are amped with all the drive of middle Beethoven in his all-embracing Violin Concerto. The always surprising and brilliant Ryu Goto, who played Sibelius with the Bay-Atlantic Symphony in Avalon, will join the concert.

For our patrons with special needs, the Stockton Performing Arts Center offers wheelchair-accessible seating, large-type programs and listening assistive devices. Please identify any needs you may have when making a reservation.

The Stockton Performing Arts Center, the Jersey Shore's Center for the Arts, is located on the campus of Stockton University, on Vera King Farris Drive, just off Jimmie Leeds Road, in Galloway Township. Just 12 miles west of Atlantic City, the center is easily accessible from the Garden State Parkway and the Atlantic City Expressway.

This program is made possible in part by funds from the New Jersey State Council on the Arts/Department of State, a partner agency of the National Endowment for the Arts and by funds from the National Endowment for the Arts.
