

Summary of proposed changes:

1. Adding language defining meetings and allowed meeting modalities (Article II, Section 10 and Article 5, Section 9) – The need for this addition comes from Robert’s Rules 9:30 and 9:31
 - a. 9:30 – Extension of Parliamentary Law to Electronic Meetings. Except as authorized in the bylaws, the business of an organization or board can be validly transacted only at a regular or properly called meeting—that is, as defined in 8:2(1), a single official gathering in one room or area—of the assembly of its members at which a quorum is present.”
 - b. “9:31 – “Among some organizations, there is an increasing preference, especially in the case of a relatively small board or other assembly, to transact business at electronic meetings— that is, at meetings at which, rather than all participating members being physically present in one room or area as in traditional (or “face-to-face”) meetings, some or all of them communicate with the others through electronic means such as the Internet or by telephone. A group that holds such alternative meetings does not lose its character as a deliberative assembly (see 1:1) so long as the meetings provide, at a minimum, conditions of opportunity for simultaneous aural communication among all participating members equivalent to those of meetings held in one room or area. Under such conditions, an electronic meeting that is properly authorized in the bylaws is treated as though it were a meeting at which all the members who are participating are actually present.”
2. Adding language formalizing the ability for the Senate to hold special meetings (Article V, Section 10) – This would provide the ability to call special meetings of the Senate. There have been ones called in the past but there is no specific authority outlined in the constitution to allow this. The ability to call meetings of the Assembly is already outlined in a previous section and is delegated to the Senate or Faculty Petition.
3. Adding language to allow the Executive Committee to call additional meetings (Article VII, Section) – This addition allows for the calling of special meetings of the Exec. This has not been formally articulated but if we are making other amendments, it would make sense to add this just to formalize it.
4. Adjusting the timing of the election of Library Faculty to the Committee on Research and Professional Development (Article VIII, Section 5) – This change will have the Library faculty elect all their representatives to the standing committees in the same year. This change has been suggested in the past.
5. Updating the titles of ex-officio members of Standing Committees (Article VIII, Section 15) – Some ex-officio titles have changed due to administrative reorganization. These changes have already been made in practice under the authority granted to the Executive committee when administrative reorganizations occur, but since other amendments are being made at this time it makes sense to change them to reflect current practice.
6. Removing “discipline” from the charge to the Committee on Student Affairs (Article VIII, Section 15h) – Many committee members were concerned that the word "discipline" sends the wrong message about the committee's purpose and work as it relates to student affairs.
