Galloway Township, NJ – The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey has named Michael Busler, Ph.D. to the School of Business faculty. Dr. Busler, who has been teaching on a part-time basis in the School's MBA program, will be an Associate Professor at the College.

Previously Dr. Busler, a resident of Longport, taught at the Graduate level at Penn State's Great Valley campus and was a Visiting Professor at the University of Delaware and St. Joseph's University. He holds a baccalaureate in Industrial Engineering, a Masters Degree in Business Administration in Finance and a Doctorate in Business from Drexel University.

A prolific researcher and writer whose work appears in eight different academic journals, Dr. Busler presented research throughout the US, as well as Canada, England, Norway, Finland, the United Arab Emirates, Italy and Spain. He is also known for his editorials in several major metropolitan newspapers.

An active community member, Dr. Busler serves as president of the Margate Little League and coached junior league football in the Ventnor Pirate organization where he announced the Saturday night games and became known as the "voice of the Pirates". He is also a member of the Huddle Club of the Atlantic City High School football team.
