Galloway Township, NJ- The Public Health Society at The Richard Stockton College of New Jersey will host an event titled "What is Public Health: Majors, Careers and Everyday Life" on Thursday, April 1, 2010 from 4:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. in West Quad Building room 103.

The event will feature a panel of four Stockton College public health alumni who now work in the field. Each panelist will discuss their internship experiences, their undergraduate study, and how their professors and coursework prepared them for their professional positions.

The panel includes the following Stockton College alumni:

- Emma Lopez, '93, Health Educator for the City of Vineland Health Department
- Eileen DeFeo, '03, Practice Manager from Atlanticare Health Services
- Dan Krupinski, '05, Health Inspector for the Long Beach Island Health Department
- John Clayton, '01, Senior Field Representative, Health Education for the Ocean County Health Department

Students are encouraged to attend the event to learn about the opportunities in the field of public health. Refreshments will be served as well. For more information, please contact Tara Crowell at Tara.Crowell@Stockton.edu or 609-626-6835.
